Dedication: Miss Idanelle McMurry

In a community such as Harpeth Hall, in which each student is busy with her term paper or game or dance, each teacher worried about his or her exam or team or club and the board concerned about money for the new buildings, it is often easy to forget the axis around which our microcosm has so long revolved, the force which, to a large extent, has kept it revolving.

When Idanelle McMurry arrived in 1963, Harpeth Hall was a very small high school with only two buildings. Today the two buildings still remain along with the library, the middle school, the Wallace wing and the new arts and athletics building. With this campus expansion under the leadership and guidance of Miss McMurry, the student and faculty size of Harpeth Hall has greatly increased.

Greatness, however, cannot be entirely measured in numbers. Miss McMurry has helped effect many other changes, including Winterim and the addition of innovative courses, while maintaining the high standard of education for which Harpeth Hall is known.

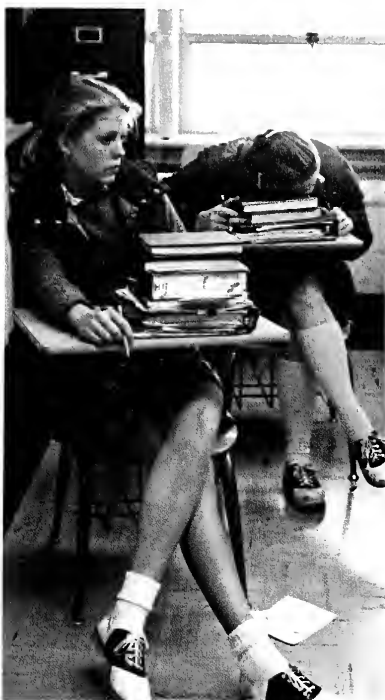

Aside from these improvements in our own community, Miss McMurry has brought much local and even national esteem for Harpeth Hall with her capacity for leadership. Her many major roles in education include that of past president of organizations such as the Southern Association of Independent Schools and the National Association of Principals of Schools for Girls. In addition, she has been a member of the board of directors and secretary of the National Association of Independent Schools. Miss McMurry is listed in Who's Who in America and is a member of several service organizations. Having achieved Phi Beta Kappa and having received both her B.A. and M.A. from Vanderbilt, Miss McMurry has participated in our community for longer than most of us can remember.

Although these honors mean a great deal to Harpeth Hall, they are not the aspects of Miss McMurry which we will remember most. We will recall how she seemed to know everyone's name, how she attended all of our school activities, how she loved her work, and how she loved us. Thus, the 1979 Milestones staff would like to dedicate this annual to Miss Idanelle McMurry, who has dedicated her last sixteen years to all of us.

Each year at Harpeth Hall goes by in much the same way.

The timelessness of a "traditional southern girls' school" seems manifest in the ivy-covered Souby Hall, tree-lined drive and massive lions' heads in the stone front gate. Even fashion remains unchanged at Harpeth Hall, one plaid year fading into another. Each year brings enthusiastic though somewhat awed freshmen and leaves behind enthusiastic though somewhat bleary-eyed seniors.

Fall brings the same vivid blue sky, winter the same chapped lips, spring the same desperate attempts at maintaining a Florida tan acquired during spring break (tanning behind the gym only, of course), and each summer the same tearful farewells.

It seems time changes nothing at Harpeth Hall; the ivy and trees merely grow a little taller and the lions a bit more tarnished.

The hems in the Gordon plaid kilts are occasionally raised or lowered, but the overall feeling of timeless tradition (surely we've had uniforms more than seven years) remains amid mothers' and grandmothers' stories of school days at Ward Belmont or even Ward Seminary.

While outside appearances and even ceremonies seem unchanged by time, some relatively small points do change with the years.

The faces change and along with them
the attitudes and aspirations.

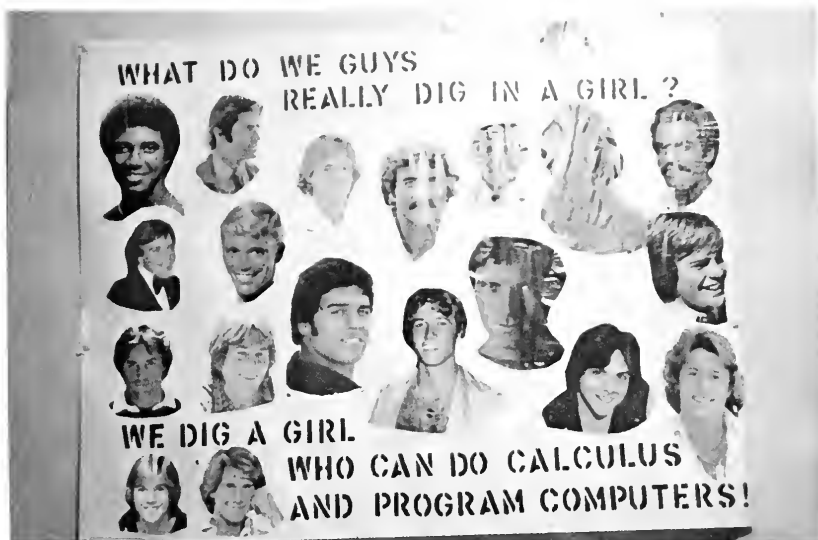

Thus, the activities change also; added to the junior and senior plays, the dances and the same graduation ceremonies are Christmas arts festivals, home basketball games and the occasional television camera seeking out one of our swimmers.

Winterim jobs, classes and trips vary; as do athletic victories, art exhibits and weather circumstances, such as the December near-floods.

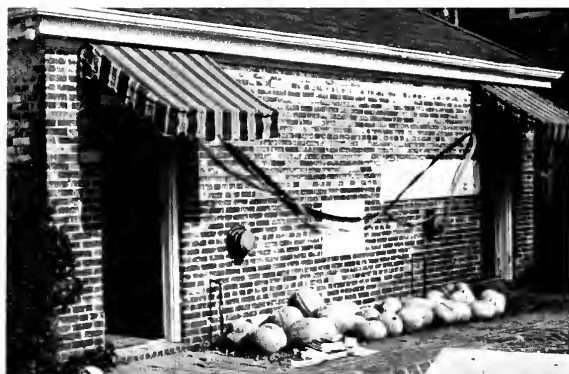

Thus, Harpeth Hall is actually a changing environment with the passing of years and even the changing of the seasons.

These are aspects of 1978-1979 which Milestones would like to record—the faces, personalities, events and dreams which made this year, 1979, different from all other years.

"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."

Fall

Fall

Fall is a time of beginnings at Harpeth Hall. Each autumn holds some outstanding opportunity for every individual. It may be the first time a teacher teaches his or her favorite course, a student's first or last year at Harpeth Hall, or simply a time to show off a new haircut acquired over the summer. However, everyone starts fresh and new. The changes in the weather—the crisp early mornings, vivid skies and warm afternoons—correspond with the emotional state at Harpeth Hall—the unsubdued excitement of seeing old friends and learning new skills. Enthusiasm was evident in the participants of fall sports such as our volleyball team, which, with only two seniors, managed to establish itself as a competitive team in this region, and our hockey team, which traveled all the way to Kentucky in search of another school team to play. Another enthusiastic group last fall was the Modern II dance club, whose members spent weeks preparing for a demonstration in Knoxville which was canceled the day before their departure. Small setbacks such as this could not keep the Harpeth Hall student from smiling, however, especially when she had someone like Gene Cotton to help get her through the day. In by far the most popular assembly of the season (if not of the year), Gene Cotton played before a wildly appreciative student body and faculty who were on their feet cheering long before Cotton finished his program.

Also indicative of the feeling of enthusiasm and accomplishment were the fascinating art exhibits which Harpeth Hall was proud to show. Especially worth mentioning was the alumnae and faculty show, which demonstrated the substantial amount of talent associated with our school. Another showcase of Harpeth Hall's talent was the AFS Celebrations, during which a large crowd sampled Harpeth Hall students' international cuisine. Blithe Spirit, the fall drama production sponsored by the student council, proved a success in utilizing both the students' talents and the technical possibilities now open to us with the new auditorium. The senior play produced not only enthusiasm but also an immense demonstration of responsibility in organizing the school's largest class. As seniors realized that this really was their last year and others realized that Harpeth Hall is every bit as hard as they had always heard it was, everyone settled down to serious (well, sometimes) studying in preparation for those cold months ahead.

Senior Recognition Day

Seniors annually await with special anticipation one outstanding day in September. On Senior Recognition Day, the members of the class accept their responsibilities as leaders of the school by reciting the Senior Class Pledge.

During the seniors' assembly, Adelaide Davis, president, presented the class of '79's motto, "We go together." Elaborating on this theme, Adelaide explained that not only do seniors go together to make a class, but that also ultimately the classes, faculty and staff all go together to form a complete learning and growing environment. At the end of the assembly, each senior received her senior beanie as a symbol of her responsibilities and privileges.

Triad

Homecoming

This year, Triad inaugurated a new method of electing its Homecoming Queen. Each of the clubs chose a representative; afterwards, for a small fee, the students had the opportunity to vote for the candidate of their choice. The girl who brought in the most money won at Homecoming. Members of each club wheeled their representative onto the field at halftime of the hockey game. Mr. Byrd opened the envelope . . . and the winner was Robin Hicks! As she rode around the field, others gathered around the refreshments. During the second half of the hockey game, Mrs. Johnson stated that team play was the most competitive ever at Harpeth Hall.

Cross Country

Every day, no matter what the weather is, no matter how much homework might be waiting, a very devoted cross country team can be found headed toward Percy Warner Park to run. However tiring the work may be, these girls never seem to lack humor and an excellent attitude. Despite the sometimes not-so-serious dispositions of the girls, each team member is very serious indeed about her running, as is evident in the phenomenal record of the team which once again has captured both the regional and state championships. Besides these honors, several team members (Katie Groos, Jeannie Bass, Kathy McPherson, and Sloan Burton) have been named all-N.I.L. cross country runners. Harpeth Hall girls enthusiastically support their cross country team as it continually expands its membership and improves its skills.

Volleyball

Competition was rougher this year than it has been in the past for varsity volleyball. The team, consisting of two seniors, two juniors and a large group of sophomores and freshmen, finished the season with a 12-10 record. Coach Killmer offered the girls much encouragement and understanding throughout the season. This year could be described as a "growing season" for the Honeybears. Only two girls with previous game experience returned to play. However, Harpeth Hall can expect great coming attractions, as several freshmen and sophomores showed much promise for next year. The district tournament proved to be rough early on in the running for the Honeybears. However, the team made a good showing in the Franklin Road Invitational Tournament, with the two seniors, Kitty Cawood and Alison Smith, providing experienced leadership for the team. The school should keep a close watch on those young Honeybears in the following seasons!

Fall Dance

Unlike those of previous years, this year's fall Student Council combo was a combined effort of the classes and the council. The decorations, backdrop and food were provided by the classes, while the Student Council provided the publicity, band and theme. The band "Union Station" matched the caboose backdrop and other railroad decorations which covered the entrance hall to the gym. Although it was chilly outside, the gym was warm and alive with music, dancing and fun. Faculty attendance was substantial; teachers seemed to enjoy the dance as much as students, making the first combo of the year entertaining for all who attended.

Senior Play

This year's Senior Class Play was not merely a play; it was an extravaganza! The chorus line dancers and the humorous caricatures of the teachers revealed the class' enthusiasm.

Using everyone's skills, the play called for dancing, acting and organization. Through these talents and the slightly nostalgic "memories," the play depicted the special Senior Class feeling. This senior feeling was built on the seniors' experiences—from the George Washington Celebration to the "highly effective" magazine sale last year. All of these events appeared in the play to form a comic reminiscence of the past four years. All of these various one-liners like, "I thought we were going to have a good time in '79!" and "Come on, Steve. Let's go ride in your metallic blue Mazda RX-7!" made the evening enjoyable for both participants and onlookers.

Soccer

Although other traditional sports have long been popular at Harpeth Hall, soccer, a relatively new sport for girls, is rapidly gaining prestige. The popularity of soccer is most evident in the Middle School. This year the team's regular practices and determination have again led them to a winning season. Although the practices were often strenuous, their coach, K.C. Weiner, kept the team going. Going into the tournament, Harpeth Hall had lost only two games: one to Ezell Harding and the other to Ensworth. The girls on the team consider Ensworth School their stiffest competition because it has won the tournament every year. This year, Harpeth Hall held the finals of the tournament on Saturday, November 18. Though the victory went to Ensworth, Harpeth Hall is proud not only of the team's terrific showing in the tournament, but also of its all-tournament players Heidi Wallace and Gigi Smith.

Hockey

Harpeth Hall is proud to be one of the few southern preparatory schools to have a varsity hockey team. Practicing three times a week, the team members put many hours of hard work into perfecting their game. Because of the scarcity of southern teams, the club found that the most difficult aspect of hockey was finding other teams to play! Nonetheless, the club held scrimmages with the Vanderbilt hockey team several times and also travelled to Louisville, Kentucky, where members played Presentation Academy and Sacred Heart. Under the leadership of their coach Mrs. Johnson, the team has had an exciting year; Harpeth Hall is proud of its hockey team's efforts and achievements.

Fall Art Exhibits

Harpeth Hall was privileged to have hosted three impressive and varied art shows first semester in the Marnie Sheridan Gallery. The program began in September with a contribution of work from Harpeth Hall alumnae ranging in media from charcoal and oil pieces to fabric and stitchery designs. This display allowed students at Harpeth Hall to share in and be introduced to the talent and art interests pursued by their forerunners—whether they be amateurs who dabble in the field or established and growing professionals.

Next, the renowned artist Arthur Orr exposed Harpeth Hall to a very unique expression of emotion through the visual art of his one-man show. The fortified energy and color of his geometric designs presented upon sculptured canvases presented a challenging experience for visitors in the gallery.

With a contrasting yet equally impressive style, Brigitte Porter followed Orr's presentation with an extensive collection of both realistic and illusionistic watercolor. Mrs. Porter's landscape and nature studies communicated her dedication to the world of art which she expressed during her assembly program.

The enthusiasm manifest in all three of this season's shows is the type of artistic awareness Harpeth Hall wishes to encourage in its students throughout the year by its displays in the Marnie Sheridan Gallery.

Grandmothers' Tea

Each year, the Middle School Council sponsors a tea for grandmothers and special friends of Middle Schoolers. The tea is held in appreciation of all the love the grandmothers give the girls. Dressed in their Sunday best, the girls meet their grandmothers at school and take them to tea in the art gallery, where each girl introduces her grandmother to Miss Fessey, Miss McMurry, her friends and teachers. Everyone enjoys herself in the relaxed atmosphere of this special party for special people.

A.F.S. Celebrations of Many Lands

When Harpeth Hall girls are seen at school substituting berets, kimonos or grass skirts for the usual plaid kilts and bobby socks, something special must be going on. On Tuesday, November 21, Harpeth Hall was turned into a mini-United Nations as the AFS Club presented the annual Celebration of Many Lands. Each classroom, representative of a different country, was decorated, with activities planned and food cooked according to the tastes and customs of the particular nation. Countries represented in the pageant included Sweden, those of the South Pacific, Germany, Spain, France, Holland, Switzerland and the United States.

Highlights of the festival included the breaking of a Spanish piñata, a French dance accompanied by an accordion, slide shows from Holland and an American disco. People in the Japanese room followed the usual custom of removing their shoes upon entering and sitting on mats while eating. The presence of foreign students helped set the atmosphere for their respective countries.

Because of the immense effort and large attendance, Harpeth Hall will be able to direct profits toward the sponsoring of a new AFS exchange student and to a better understanding and appreciation of other countries in the world.

Ariston Halloween Party

This year's Ariston Halloween Party began auspiciously with the traditional "stomp the balloon" contest. The party continued with an invasion by our creative English teachers. Elaborately draped in black robes and black coned hats, these "weird sisters" recited their "spells" while circling an imaginary cauldron.

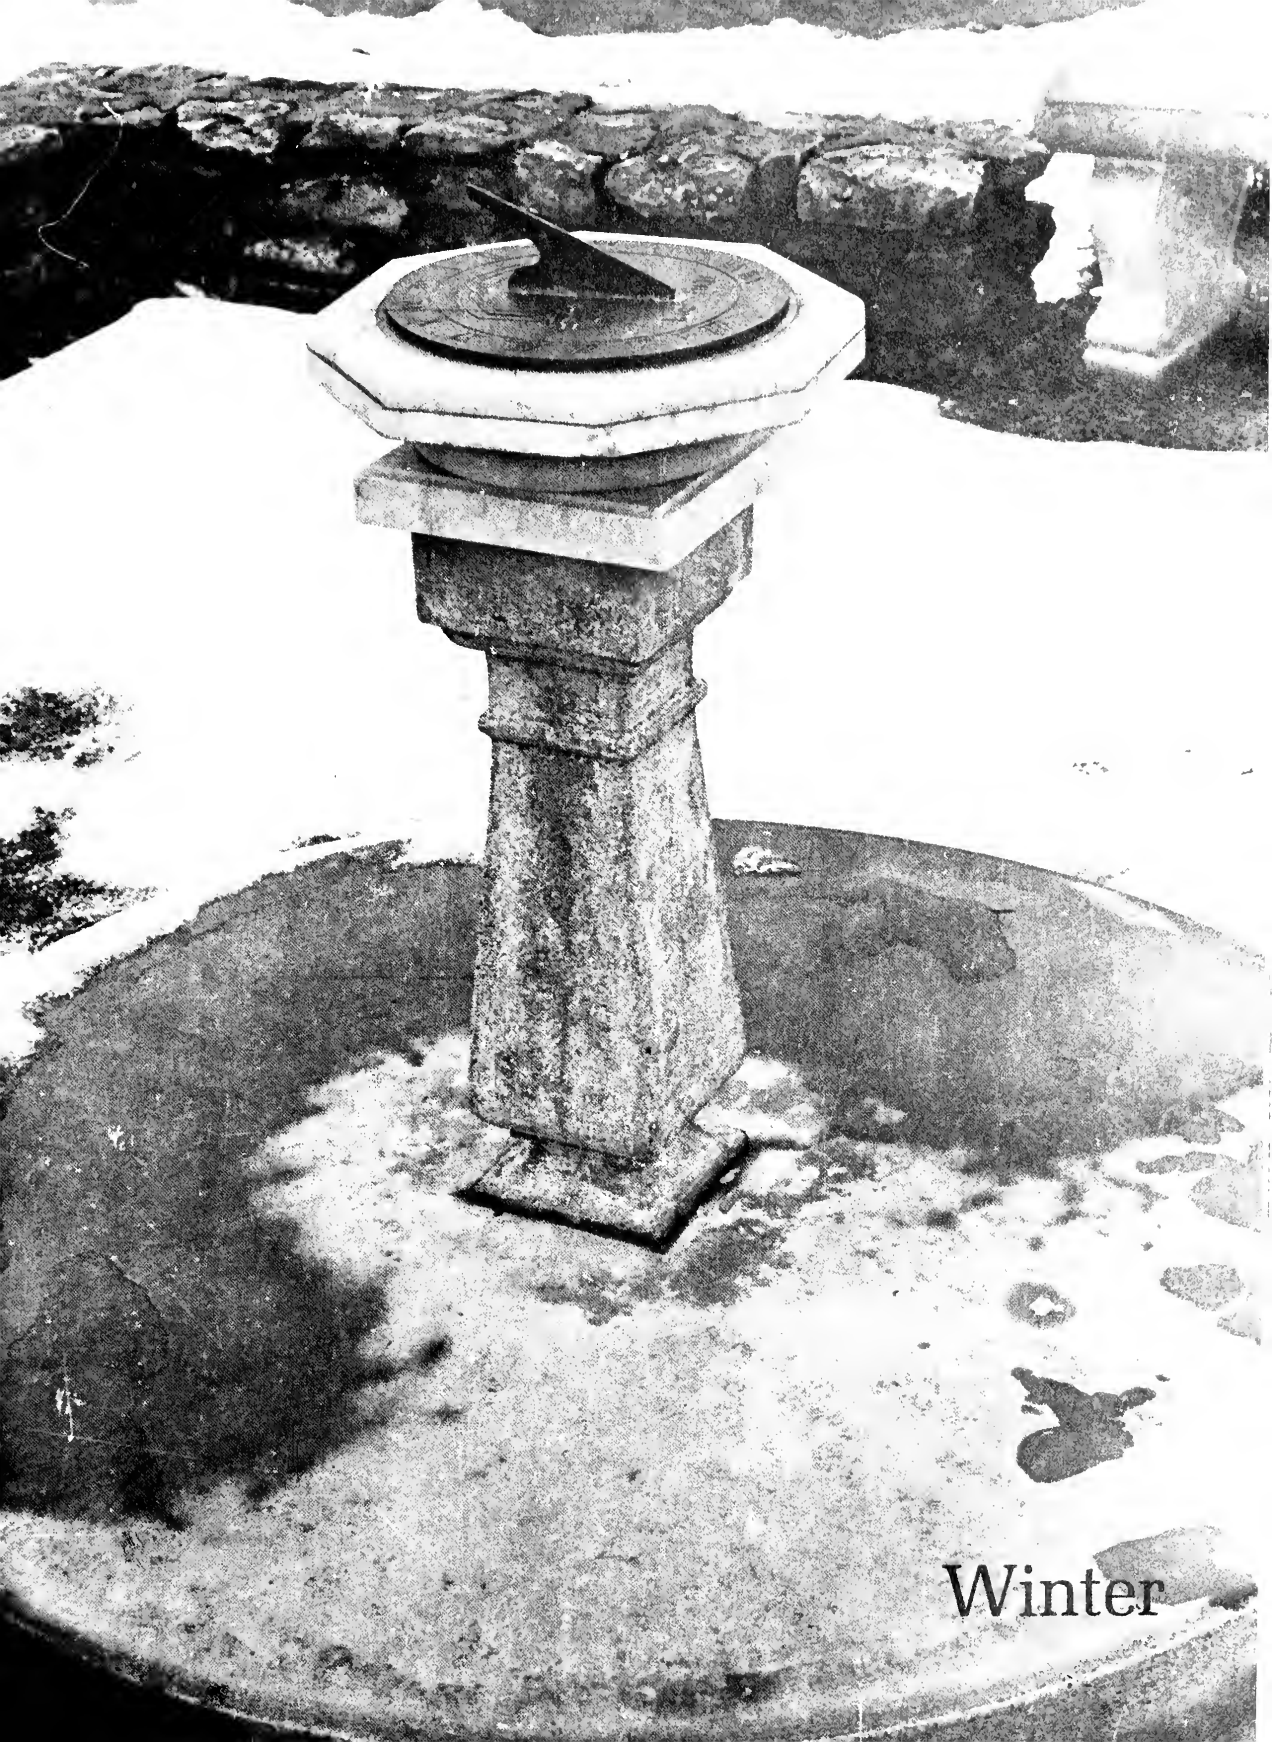

This year's party initiated a new tradition—the "Pumpkin of the Year"—of which Miss Parker was the recipient.

The costume contest, won by Eccowasin, included a giant cake from the movie "Animal House," two killer bees direct from "Saturday Night Live," a "Halloweenie," and two strangely dressed people with tiny legs and enormously large heads. Judges included Mrs. Moran, Mr. Byrd, Mr. Umbarger, Ms. Johnson and Miss Lewis. Even with all the activities that were going on, one could not forget the table of delicious "treats" provided by Ariston. The effort of many hard-working club members produced another tremendously festive event for Harpeth Hall.

Winter

Winter

Many have described winter as a time of hibernation. At Harpeth Hall, however, this is certainly not the case. Rather, the cold nip of the air often leaves students with a rosy glow of excitement on their cheeks as they look for icy magnolia leaves in the snow while walking from Little Harpeth to the Arts and Athletic Center. Who can forget the excitement of watching downy flakes of snow accumulate on the campus walkways? (Would school be closed the next day?) Indeed, there is an element in the frigid months on our campus that, initially at least, raises every girl's spirits.

Cold weather brings much excitement, for many activities are at their peak. There are thrilling basketball games watched through the din of students jumping up and cheering as well as club intramural sports offered after school. The afternoon practices for individual class projects such as George Washington's Birthday and the Junior Class Play lead ultimately—and exhaustingly—to the eve of the event itself.

Perhaps the most unique feature of winter at Harpeth Hall is Winterim, during which every girl is free to pursue her own interests. Juniors and seniors are rarely seen on campus, and the underclassmen crowd the halls, exhilarated at having the school "to themselves."

The lighter academic load is not by any means the most meaningful aspect of Winterim, a point that is most clear when a sophomore smiles at a freshman in March and asks, "Still playing the guitar?" or "Did you ever finish your oil painting?" The acquaintance with new faces is not limited to the campus; one knows that an upperclassman has had a profitable experience when she returns in February discussing the behavioral patterns of first graders rather than only her weekend dates.

Recently, an increasing number of complaints have arisen due to the severity of Nashville winters. Here at Harpeth Hall, throughout most of the winter, every girl's life sometimes seems put into slow motion. However, when the last snowman on campus melts away, leaving only a pool of water to nourish spring flowers, there is great joy in anticipation of the warm times ahead as well as myriad memories of the icy winter.

Arts Christmas Program

The first of December found the dance, drama and glee clubs combining their talents to produce an extraordinary Christmas show. The program centered around a skit about a nineteenth century family's Christmas Eve preparations. Presenting Mrs. Justus and Mr. Bradfield as mother and father, the skit also featured Miss Parker's now-famous annual appearance as Santa Claus. The Glee Club accompanied the skit, opening with a musical version of "The Night Before Christmas" and singing several other well-known carols throughout the show. The dance clubs added to the entertainment with a modern dance and a tap number in which the performers, dressed as reindeer, tapped to the Glee Club's version of "Up on the Housetop." This delightful program drew to a close with refreshments for the guests and a carol sing-along in the gallery.

Blithe Spirit

Doors mysteriously opening, pillows flying through the air, vases crashing to the floor, and ghosts stalking the stage—all of these appeared in Harpeth Hall's fall production of Noel Coward's eerie comedy Blithe Spirit. The dramatic special effects, coupled with the actors' solid characterizations, made for two enjoyable evenings of entertainment. Among the cast members were John Beasley as Charles, a novelist confronted by the still amorous ghost of his first wife; Leslie Gingles as Elvira, the ghost of Charles' first wife; Betsy Bass portraying Charles' second wife Ruth; Kelly Wellman as the local medium and Suzy Bell as the psychic maid. The story becomes more complicated as Elvira, intending to kill Charles, accidentally kills Ruth, an error resulting in Charles' having to deal with two angry spectres. All is saved, however, when the maid realizes that she is capable of sending both ghosts to their afterlife homes. Mrs. Davis, director, is to be commended for bringing such a fine production to our stage.

Basketball

This year has been exciting beyond all precedent for the Honeybears in basketball. Led by three seniors, Susan Crenshaw, Kathy Denton and Leslie Burton, Harpeth Hall began the schedule by playing one of the first five-man games in middle Tennessee, beating CMA 64-12. The girls played a tough schedule against top NIL teams and came on with a strong finish at the district tournaments. After defeating Montgomery Central and Bellevue, the Honeybears found themselves contenders for the first time in the districts. They finished second and advanced to the regionals—another first for Harpeth Hall! Susan Crenshaw and Melissa Hayes were honored by being named to the all-district team.

The Middle School team had a successful season, and the Freshman team worked hard as well.

Congrats, Honeybears!

Basketball

Winterim

Harpeth Hall has been one of the first secondary schools in the nation to institute an interim program of alternative studies and work opportunities. The purpose of our Winterim period is to provide knowledge and experiences that could not be obtained in a strictly academic environment. Whether trekking through the Coliseum or working in a crisis center, students learn aspects of life that could not be taught in a Latin or humanities class alone.

Winterim can be a time used to learn more about one's favorite hobby, such as guitar, gardening, or French cooking. On-campus classes for freshmen and sophomores are designed to provide an interesting and enriching alternative to classes taken throughout the academic year.

Work/study programs are another possibility in the Winterim structure. By working at jobs in the actual community, such as teaching, nursing, or working in an architectural firm, students not only acquire insight into the careers which they are considering but also earn community respect for Harpeth Hall itself by the responsibility and eagerness demonstrated by school participants.

One of the most appealing aspects of the Winterim program is the opportunity to travel. One interesting possibility is a domestic AFS exchange with a family in another part of the United States. This program enables the student to learn more about our country while getting to know a new family and attending her AFS brother's or sister's school.

Another popular Winterim travel program goes to Europe. This year students flew to Germany and Austria or to Greece and Italy. Cultural, historical and art-related studies, as well as lots of fun, were an intrinsic part of these trips.

Whether or not each student can regard Winterim as the most enjoyable aspect of her time at Harpeth Hall, each girl should view Winterim as one of her most valuable opportunities.

Eighth Grade Combo

February 17th was the date of the ever-popular eighth grade combo. Having decided on the Old West theme, the girls created a saloon backdrop complete with swinging doors and hay bales. Those attending agreed that the band was sensational. As the combo was the first date for many girls, the whole class arrived "dressed to kill," and the snow that night did not at all seem to dampen the terrific evening.

Spring

Spring

Spring is that time of year when the entire campus heaves a sigh of relief. Although spring vacationers returned to Nashville to find freezing rain, after only a few more false alarms, the long awaited warmth returned to Harpeth Hall.

Spring at Harpeth Hall means lunch periods spent sunbathing behind Bullard Gym, duds days spent in shorts and sandals, the stereo being turned up too loud in the senior house, and many longing faces turned towards the windows. Harpeth Hall's many beautiful spring flowers can often be found in girls' hair and shirt lapels. With so many new temptations—flowers to pick, swimming suits to wear (or not wear), music to be enjoyed outside, and grass to be trampled, disciplinary problems as a whole seem to increase in the latter part of Harpeth Hall's scholastic year.

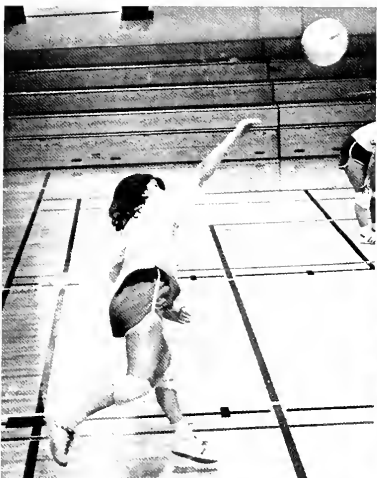

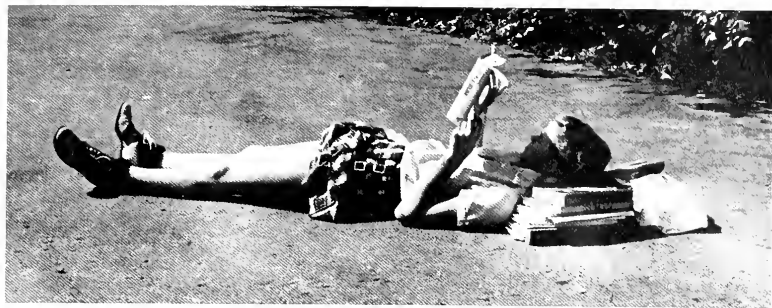

Spring is also a time of many cultural events at Harpeth Hall, including the arrival at Harpeth Hall of the actress Catherine Houghton to speak to the students about Greek tragedy. Many students took advantage of the reduced rates to attend the Nashville Symphony. A new art exhibit by Susan Von Riper seemed to mirror some of our own emotions with her paintings' childlike images and pastel colors. The students themselves increased their cultural awareness with a strong performance of Matchmaker by our drama department, another varied and talent-filled dance concert, and an artistic slide show which the glee club accompanied with appropriate music. These events, as well as several student-centered assemblies, enhanced everyone's spring.

Spring is one of the best seasons of the year athletically speaking, especially this year with two AAU teams in addition to our regular varsities. Both the volleyball and basketball AAU teams could be found practicing in the gym several afternoons a week. Our track team demonstrated its usual superiority, and we were all proud of our sensational tennis team.

Spring is a time of many varied activities at Harpeth Hall. Still, seniors find time to think of their graduation not too far off, and thus attempt to live each moment to its very fullest.

George Washington's Birthday

The George Washington celebration is the event which traditionally brings the freshman class together in a unified effort. Each year Miss Patty transforms the new freshmen into sailors, soldiers, and graceful dancers of the minuet. The upperclassmen always enjoy noting the minor changes in "their" dance or "their" costumes. This year's celebration, however, was special since it was the year of the two Georges. When the original George, Jeannie Bass, was needed in a basketball tournament, Katie Groos stepped in to fill the role of the great president. Vicki Irwin portrayed Martha Washington. The combined talent of these juniors and the freshman class provided another impressive celebration of the birthday of our country's first president.

Charlotte's Web

This spring the Middle School proved once again that it can compete successfully with the Upper School in producing a play. The younger students' delightful presentation of "Charlotte's Web" made for fine entertainment for all ages. Not only did the seventh and eighth graders relate the story of a friendship between a pig and a spider, but they also managed to do so in musical form, exhibiting talent which pleasantly surprised the audience.

Spring Art Exhibits

The first one-man exhibition of sculpture hosted in the Marnie Sheridan Gallery this spring consisted of an excellent, unique display of wood and clay pieces by artist-teacher Olen Bryant. Students passing through the gallery during February and March were tempted not only to view the linear or spherical moonmasked faces, but also to touch earthy surfaces of the sculptures. They could even take a seat in a solid walnut chair. Olen Bryant's interest in folk art, religious symbols, and the Bauhaus theories were combined into an artistic expression of serenity and creativity.

Following Bryant, Susie Van Riper, an upcoming artist of collages as well as an alumna of Harpeth Hall, was scheduled for exhibition. Her talent in the creative collaboration of media materials with design and meaning presented a motif that Harpeth Hall could really appreciate.

Junior Prom

Every spring, romance takes precedence on campus for upper and underclassmen alike as Harpeth Hall prepares for the junior prom. The week before, there is much festivity for juniors as they plan for the backdrop, band, presentation, and decorations.

This year's Class of 1980 has been as busy as ever making arrangements for the gala occasion. The backdrop was a lattice surrounded by plants. The "Unexpected" Band provided a musical background to which couples danced from 8 until 12 o'clock. At the 9:00 presentation, junior officers and seniors walked out from a sunset scene down the aisle amid an applauding crowd.

Whether one went to a breakfast after the prom or merely home, the evening was one to be well remembered by everyone. Once again, the Class of 1980 proved to all its ability to show Harpeth Hall a good time with its prom.

Matchmaker

On April 27 and 28, the Harpeth Hall Drama Club, with help from local schools, presented Thornton Wilder's The Matchmaker. Starring in the production were Nelson Griswold as Horace Vandergelder, a rich, middleaged man looking for a bride, and Becky Hinshaw as Dolly Levy, the vivacious woman who contracts to help him find an appropriate mate. In addition to Nelson and Becky's well-known talent, there were many new faces in the spotlight. Jeannie Cochran, Susan McAdams, Suzy Bell, and Jennifer Orth performed impressively in the supporting roles, while the rest of the cast demonstrated much versatility. Not only was the cast of high quality, but the set, designed by Jennifer Orth, was equally effective. The combination of cast and set design along with the enthusiasm and backing of Mrs. Sandra Davis, drama director, resulted in a truly excellent spring production.

Dance Concert

May 11th and 12th, sixty girls participated in Harpeth Hall's dance concert. The months of long, hard rehearsals which the dancers endured paid off in outstanding performances both nights. Among the dance forms represented were tap, modern, jazz and pantomime, this mixture covering a wide range of interest and talent. Most of the modern pieces were choreographed and staged by the girls themselves, adding a new dimension to their dance experience.

The capabilities and output of Harpeth Hall's dance program, under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Mullins, is truly remarkable considering the age of the program—only two years. Also noteworthy is the warm support which the dance program has received from the faculty with many of the costumes being made by teachers. The dancers felt support from the entire school community. The Glee Club performed for the tappers and drama club members spent many hours helping with the lighting and sound systems. All participants gave their best efforts and helped to make the dance concert a wonderful success.

Student Art Show

This year's art department and club presented a student display in the Sheridan Gallery instead of the usual clothesline art show. The department served cookies and finger sandwiches at a reception during lunch on Monday, May seventh. Exhibited in the show were batiks, wire sculpture, etchings, and oil, acrylic and water color paintings. Many of the students' works seemed to be of professional caliber.

Tennis

Several girls at Harpeth Hall spent most of their afternoons on a tennis court this spring. Squinting into the sun and melting in its rays did not seem to bother these students as they consistently smashed and volleyed their way to victory. The top seeded players, Kathy Denton, Susan Crenshaw, Florence Morrison, Liz Jamison, and others worked extremely diligently at improving their own games and maintaining the morale of the entire team. Once again, hard work and cheerful attitudes paid off in the district championship and in an overall tennis season of which all at Harpeth Hall can be proud.

Track

Harpeth Hall's varsity track team is among the most outstanding teams in this region. Each year the team's remarkable record distinguishes it from other area competitors. This year was no exception. Under the able leadership of Miss Lewis and Mr. Kramer, the team worked diligently every afternoon, running at either Hillsboro or Overton High School. The members' efforts paid off, however, as they were first in the district for the third year. Besides attaining this distinction, the team also performed outstandingly well by placing second in the Banner and Optimist relays and fourth in the Baylor and Green Hills relays. Harpeth Hall is extremely proud of these dedicated girls and is confident of their continued growth in their achievements.

Summer

Summer

The days are growing longer and hotter. The songs of birds are heard, and a warm breeze fills the air. Summer has returned. It is a season for reflections—a time for nostalgia. Summer is a time of both endings and beginnings.

During this time of year at Harpeth Hall, one is taken back to her childhood as the juniors and seniors dress up on Junior-Senior Day, reminding all of how long ago it seems we played these childish games. Senior Banquet is another nostalgic event in which seniors recall fond memories of their years at Harpeth Hall.

Summer is not only a time for reflection but also one for recognition. At All-Club Picnic, students' efforts in varied areas of interest from the arts to athletics and academics are acknowledged. Following All-Club Picnic occurs Middle School Honor Day, in which the eighth grade gives up the security of the Middle School in preparation for stepping into the unknown world of the Upper School. Other forms of recognition near the end of school include the day on which the Junior Class honors the seniors with Step Singing on the lawn, followed by the Lady of the Hall ceremony, which honors that senior who is most representative of Harpeth Hall, its students, and its standards. Finally, the most important day of the school year—graduation day—arrives. With it, old memories once again spring up; but just as importantly, new and exciting dreams of the future appear. This day is the first step into the uncertainty of the future in which hopes and dreams will be realized.

This summer, like graduation, becomes a time for dreams and memories, endings and beginnings.

Junior—Senior Day

The atmosphere on Junior-Senior Day is traditionally one of playful competition. Each year, the juniors dress as little boys and the seniors as little girls; and the two classes compete in various events. This year a small change was made. Instead of meeting after school, the juniors and the seniors met on the field after fifth period and enjoyed a picnic lunch, after which there was a huge tug of war between the classes. The seniors won; and although some juniors received rope injuries, all was in a sense of fun. Both classes enjoyed their day as children.

All-Club Picnic

With every ending there inevitably are tears and flushed faces mingled with the anticipation of vacation. When the days of the school year draw to a close, each Harpeth Hall student anxiously awaits the final regular school day with the annual All-Club picnic. On this day tributes are made to those clubs, specific groups, and individuals on campus whose achievements are outstanding. Trophies are given to the four clubs on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, and athletic merit and participation. The sense of spirit for one's class and club reflects enthusiasm as the voices of the clubs are raised in the traditional song competition. The greatest praise always involves the seniors, as the underclassmen and faculty realize how large a role they have played in our school years; treasured departing members of the faculty are also recognized.

This year the picnic varied from previous ones. Of course, there were different recipients for the awards, but the atmosphere was changed and likewise the program. Instead of the usual blanketed campus as the scene for the festivities, rainy weather kept the students inside. Also different were the feelings in the gallery at the picnic; everyone's attention was focused on our headmistress and her contributions to the school. The picnic was the perfect opportunity to pay tribute to Miss McMurry, the "senior" who has spent much longer than four years in service to Harpeth Hall. A song performed by the student body was dedicated to her, and the Milestones staff honored her by reading their dedication of the yearbook to her. A photo album and picture of the school were presented to her to remember us by in the future. Miss McMurry had prepared us well for her departure, attempting to ease our loss, but the tears were still there.

As the afternoon drew to a close and thus another school year ended, Harpeth Hall students and faculty experienced mixed feelings upon leaving. When they sang the Alma Mater in closing, there was nostalgia for past times and anticipation for what the future might hold.

Middle School Honor Day

Middle School Honor Day is the day on which eighth graders graduate from the Middle School and prepare for their entry into the Upper School. This year's Honor Day was most unusual in that not only did the students graduate but also Miss Polly Fessey, Director of the Middle School. She too will move up to the Upper School to become its interim headmistress for next year. The eighth grade class honored her with a special diploma for graduating with them.

In addition to Dr. Daugh W. Smith's handing out the diplomas, awards were also presented. Class spirit awards were given to Elizabeth James, Mary Irwin, and Anne Shoulders. Leigh Hall received the '78 award established by the Class of 1978 to be given to the sixth grader who most exemplifies its theme of live, love, and laugh. In addition, several students were recognized for their outstanding attendance and academic records. Heather Johnson received the Latin Award, while Julie Cox and Gina Goff were recognized for their excellence in French. Anne Martin and Julie Cox were recipients of certificates for their achievements in math. Ariston won the sports trophy. In a final joint effort as Middle Schoolers, the eighth grade class of 1979 presented a check to Miss Fessey to be used toward the building fund. Although this day marked the end of dedicated efforts, it was also the beginning of new and challenging goals.

Senior Banquet

The Senior Banquet offers the senior class and the Upper School faculty and staff a chance to share memories of Harpeth Hall. This year Adelaide Davis' home provided an appropriate atmosphere for the traditional dinner and activities which followed. Miss McMurry's brief address to the Class of '79 was followed by the presentation of Senior Superlatives. The last will and testament of the class came to life in the form of a creative skit featuring Martha Leigh Ferrell as a future Harpeth Hall dean and Babs Young as a policeman. Their theme—"we go together"—seemed to fit this last festive occasion together for the Class of '79.

Step-Singing

Annually, Step-Singing is a day for the seniors to pass on their duties and privileges to the upcoming class who will uphold the traditions and values of the school. In response to the seniors' recitation of their pledge of loyalty to the school, the incoming senior class officers paid tribute to the Class of '79 with the Daisy Chain Walk. In selecting their gift to the school, seniors chose to honor the talents of Miss McMurry as an orator by presenting a podium to be placed in the Davis Auditorium. Adelaide Davis awarded Miss McMurry a plaque signifying this honor. Both classes then shared an expression of their thoughts for the year through the singing of their class songs. After Adelaide had passed on the senior diary to Alice Graves, the Class of 1979 recited its pledge with promises of faithfulness. Thus, departing seniors made an honorable exit while the juniors enthusiastically affirmed their new responsibilities as the Class of 1980.

Lady of the Hall

Throughout her seven years at Harpeth Hall, Susan Spickard, this year's Lady of the Hall, has exemplified characteristics of leadership, organization, and responsibility. Her enthusiasm has been evident through four years of participation in the Glee Club as well as her keen interest in the Triad Club. As sophomores, her classmates elected her Student Council representative, and their faith in her was later apparent in choosing her as President of the Junior Class of 1977-79 as well as Junior Maid to last year's Lady of the Hall. This year, Susan's outstanding qualities have enabled her to be a sincere, creative Student Council president whose imaginative ideas have made this year especially memorable for the entire student body. Susan has attempted to unify the school through numerous Student Council activities which have indeed drawn us all closer together.

In the spring, each class chose its representative who most fully possessed the ideals of Lady of the Hall to attend Susan in the ceremony. These honorees made the processional to the accompaniment of a piano, flute, and cello ensemble. The crowning of this year's Lady of the Hall demonstrated the school's appreciation of Susan's spirit and dedication to Harpeth Hall.

Citizenship Bracelet and Katie Wray Award

This year's Katie Wray Award and Citizenship Bracelet went to Jennifer Orth. The Katie Wray Award is given to the senior with the highest four-year grade point average. Jennifer has shown an outstanding excellence in academics. She was initiated into the Harpeth Hall chapter of the Cum Laude Society in the spring of her junior year and served as its chaplain during her senior year. As a National Merit Scholar and recipient of a one thousand dollar scholarship, Jennifer plans to attend the University of Virginia next fall. In her sophomore year, Jennifer received the Randolph-Macon Award, presented to the sophomore who best exemplifies the ideals of the college. An achiever in all areas of academics, Jennifer placed first in the state in the Level II French contest her sophomore year and received the Presidents' Council Award for the highest four-year average in English her senior year.

In addition to her outstanding academic record, Jennifer has also shown herself to be a noteworthy citizen. Citizenship points reflect a student's attitude toward her schoolwork, her duties as an officer, her regard for school rules, and her actions toward other girls in the school. These points are awarded by various groups in the school such as the faculty, the Student Council, class officers, and club officers and sponsors. In recognition of her quality of leadership and her sense of responsibility, the Class of '79 elected Jennifer as its vice-president for her senior year. Also in her senior year, Jennifer was the recipient of the Angkor Spirit Award. In addition, she has received both the Optimist and Exchange Club Awards from two local clubs in recognition of her involvement in church, school, and the community.

Jennifer's acting abilities have been recognized nationally as well as by Harpeth Hall. A member of the International Thespian Society since her freshman year, she received Harpeth Hall's Best Thespian Award her junior year and has participated through acting, set construction, and costume making both at Harpeth Hall and at M.B.A. Finally, for her creativity and hard work on the set for The Matchmaker, Jennifer received a scholarship from the Thespian Society.

Although a senior rarely earns the honor of receiving both the Citizenship Bracelet and Katie Wray Award, Jennifer Orth has achieved excellence in both citizenship and academics and has thus earned two of the highest honors bestowed upon a Harpeth Hall senior.

Now we take our time and see it spent
Each minute to its full extent
We place our trust in things we know
The days will come, the days will go
We know it's all a passing phase.

Now we know our time is drawing near
It's coming close—it's finally here.
We've come along, we hope we've shown
How much we care, how much we've grown.
The time is close to change our ways—But we've loved these days.

As we share with you our peace of mind
We're thinking back to happy times—
The smiles that changed our attitude,
The tears we've shed of gratitude,
And all the times we've spent as one.

We've found the joy in "all for one"
And love in everything we've done.
It's hard to think of leaving here
Our future's close, but not too clear
The time is close to change our ways—But we've loved these days.

So before we end and then begin
We'll sing our song for how it's been
The years have passed and now are through
The moments left are but a few
So now's the time that we should say, we've loved these days.

Graduation

Graduation at Harpeth Hall is a very special and beautiful end to what has been, for most of the graduates, a very special four years. The ceremony itself brings feelings of sorrow at leaving old friends, relief at the end of another academic year, anticipation of the "college life," and fear of an unknown future—all combined in a single, breathless evening.

Though the future may be unsure, the stability that Harpeth Hall has created in the graduates will continue, as will the stability of the school itself. In a very generous gesture, Tracy Caulkins presented to Harpeth Hall a two thousand dollar grant, which had been given to her by the Phillips Petroleum Company. With this kind of support, Harpeth Hall will continue to grow and to be a vital part of the community. In recognition of Miss McMurry's efforts toward this goal, she received the Dede Bullard Wallace Award for exceptional service to Harpeth Hall. In addition, the Arts and Athletics Center has been renamed the McMurry Center in her honor.

It was with a great deal of sadness that the graduates left Harpeth Hall. As Jeanne Harris said in her remarks from the graduates, the class "passed on the torch" with reluctance, wondering if the next class would feel as this year's class had felt. In the final performance of the Senior Song, "Our Last Song Together" by Neil Sedaka, the members of the Class of '79 released their hold on the past and, closing the cover on one chapter of their lives, affirmed that it's "time to turn the page ..."

Personalities

Administration

Miss Idanelle McMurry

Since July, 1963, Idanelle McMurry has been responsible for upholding the standards of Harpeth Hall School. Who else but Miss McMurry would spend the summer interviewing new students, training new faculty, juggling new schedules for five hundred girls who never seem to be satisfied? In addition to doing "a little of everything" at Harpeth Hall, our headmistress finds time to be a member of the Board of Directors of the Association of Independent Schools, a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, a member of the Nashville Symphony Association; the list seems endless. Her honors include having her name listed in both Who's Who in American Women and in Bi-Centennial Library of Human Resources. When asked what she especially likes about Harpeth Hall, Miss McMurry replied, "The students." She remarked that she appreciates the students for their sense of cooperation and realization of their purpose for being here—the acquisition of a well-rounded education. Through the leadership of Idanelle McMurry, Harpeth Hall's stance has been maintained as a leader in young women's preparatory education.

Miss Polly Fessey

As director of the Middle School, Miss Polly Fessey has responsibilities which keep her constantly busy. In the area of curriculum, she concerns herself with giving the Middle School students a solid base in academics to prepare them for the years to come. Miss Fessey considers her greatest challenges to be motivating the girls to want to learn and helping them to be happy with themselves. She is active as treasurer of the Mid-South Association of Independent Schools and also participates in such community activities as Girl Scouting. Miss Fessey, who makes it a point to become acquainted with all of the girls and faculty, enjoys attending as many Middle School extracurricular activities as she can. Students have been coming to Miss Fessey for advice since the founding of the Middle School. In spite of the rapid pace set for her by her demanding position, Miss Fessey makes time to talk with the students and faculty with whom she loves working. Her congeniality and concern are, in a large part, responsible for the special atmosphere in the Middle School.

Janet Hensley

Miss Janet Hensley, the dean of students at Harpeth Hall since 1975, controls all aspects of the Winterim program. Miss Hensley spends virtually all year making arrangements for work-study programs in the community, scheduling travel plans, and coordinating on-campus class activities for underclassmen. As if planning the entire month of January for all of us at Harpeth Hall were not enough, Miss Hensley also dedicates a substantial portion of her time to sponsoring the student council. In addition to her disciplinary role with the council, she is in charge of arranging assembly programs and confirming schedule changes for special absences. Finally, Miss Hensley also serves as faculty advisor to several students. In these varied capacities, Miss Hensley makes herself an invaluable member of our school community.

Penelope Mountfort

Much of Harpeth Hall's reputation depends upon the work of Miss Penelope Mountfort. Miss Mountfort, fondly called "Miss Penny" by the students, oversees the arduous task of assisting the seniors in the selection of a college. Not only does she give the juniors and seniors suggestions for their future colleges and universities, but she also writes recommendations and evaluations for each student. As soon as the members of one class have happily chosen their colleges, Miss Penny begins instructing the next class about the difficulties ahead. In addition to representing Harpeth Hall at many important meetings, she hosts the visiting college representatives as well as administering PSAT's, entrance exams, and other standardized tests. Finally, Miss Penny finds time in her hectic schedule to offer students her often much-needed counseling.

Lucile McLean and Peggy Herring

Together, Miss Herring and Mrs. McLean tackle the large job of administering the finances of Harpeth Hall. Mrs. McLean, who has been at Harpeth Hall since its beginning, is always on hand at registration making sure that we are all billed correctly for our books and school supplies. Throughout the year, Mrs. McLean can be found in her office in Souby Hall selling new books and teaching typing. Miss Herring, whose office adjoins that of Mrs. McLean, is an equally busy lady. Miss Herring, who is in charge of ordering supplies from food to paper, has also helped to supervise the funds for the new building. Together, these ladies ensure that Harpeth Hall operates efficiently.

Polly Nichols

Mrs. Polly Nichols is one of several valuable administrators of whom, unfortunately, students see very little. Mrs. Nichols is always in her office in Souby Hall, however, gathering news on graduates to compile into Harpeth Hall's bi-annual alumnae magazine. Mrs. Nichols has the tremendous task of keeping up with all students who have been to Harpeth Hall through numerous letters and phone calls to graduates scattered throughout the country and, in some cases, the world. Mrs. Nichols' role is one which students will appreciate more and more as they leave Harpeth Hall and have less contact with their classmates.

Student Council

The goal of this year's Student Council has been to involve the entire school. The council invited and welcomed all outside support it received in the social committee, which worked on organizing dances and selecting "personality of the month." In addition, Student Council's assemblies used the ideas and talents of several students who were not council members. Finally, the first dance of the year combined the participation of all classes in providing food, back drop and decorations.

However, Harpeth Hall's Student Council participated in more activities than merely zany assemblies and the combos. The council sponsored the first play of the year for which it served as ushers. Student Council also ushered and served at the Arts Show and provided help for lost moms and dads at Parents' Night. In disciplinary areas, the council maintained the large responsibility of administering punishment for all common offenses. In addition, the council's help desk offered information for students during those confusing first weeks of school. Through the encouragement of student participation and its own involvement in all areas of school life, the Student Council provided leadership throughout the year.

Milestones

Friday after Friday (after Friday after Friday), a group of dedicated girls can be found locked away in a small cubbyhole of Souby Hall. Here, amid Dorito crumbs and M'n M's, emerges what has come to be known as "the annual." Few people realize the time, frustration and serious thought involved in compiling these two hundred-odd pages. The annual staff must think, write, photograph, rethink, rewrite and rephotograph until we, Mrs. Evans, Mr. Benson, and a printer two hundred miles away all know what goes where, for what purpose and in what size type. Sound confusing? The one theory all annual staffers work under is, "everything takes longer than you think it will." Why then, you may be asking yourself, do we bother? Why do we want to make an annual for you? Our answer is simple. It's for all of the sloppy, sentimental reasons you've heard all your life. The purpose of an annual is for one to be able to dig it out ten years from now and, remembering your Junior Prom, turn to your husband, saying, "Remember when I asked you out and you didn't even kiss me good night?" If single, you can say, "Gee, I'm glad I didn't marry that nerd I took to the Junior Prom." The point is, a yearbook is for remembering and smiling and maybe sighing a little. We spend all of those hours working because we, like you, enjoy remembering, smiling, and sighing. Thus now, after one more year at Harpeth Hall, sit back, read, and remember: compliments of your Milestones staff.

Logos II

Harpeth Hall's newspaper, Logos II, is one with a long history. The staff has grown to one with over fifteen staff members and over five editors, all of whom cooperate to produce the newspaper.

Every issue of Logos II contains articles about recent events on campus and informative editorials on current issues. Not to be overlooked are the letters to the editor, which represent the students' opinions and keep the communication open between the paper and the student body.

The staff members succeed each year in compiling a paper expressing a small token of the feelings and fun that comprise our lives here on the hill.

Penstaff

Penstaff members not only enjoy producing serious or often hilarious literary creations, but they also enjoy compiling Hallmarks and listening to others' creative thoughts demonstrated through writing. Penstaff encourages students to become interested in writing and expressing their feelings on paper. By publishing Hallmarks, Penstaff gives students an opportunity to experience the creativity of their peers and allows them to read varied interpretations of common problems and situations. Being a Penstaff member gives one an outlet for expressing one's thoughts which is both enjoyable and rewarding.

ECONOMICS

for Young Americans

He just might lose his shirt.

Sweat shirt literature helps some people get things off their chest. Gripes against our social system, for instance. Or our economic system, where the gripes concentrate on profits.

The young man in our picture forgets that he bought the shirt with the money some worker earned for his labor. And labor is a major beneficiary of that sale — since employees get 2/3 of the corporate income dollar.

The manufacturer of the shirt could not survive without a profit, nor could the retailer who sold it. No matter how you feel about profit — without it, neither labor or management, nor retailer or wholesaler could survive.

The very price of the shirt is established by the profit system. If one merchant takes too great a profit his price may be high. This in turn will encourage a competitor to take less profit at a lower price in order to get a bigger share of the shirt business.

In a word, profit is an incentive to beat the competition with new and better products at more attractive prices — all of which results in more and better jobs.

Profit is a built-in part of the American economic system which has given us by far the highest standard of living in the world.

So let's not lose our shirt — or our head.

One year.
 Seemed short, didn't it?
 How many assemblies were there?
 How many pairs of bobby socks did you PULL on?
 Remember the snowy days, rainy days,
     sunny days (out of uniform for scarves, raincoats and swimming suits)?
 Did you ever figure out how the sun dial works?
 Ever find that muscle on the frog?
 Do you know who rolled the lawn the first day of school?
 Did you sing Christmas Carols in the halls?
 How many times did you take the War and Peace test?
 How many pounds did the seniors gain the first five weeks of school?
 How many bake sales did you make chocolate chip cookies for?
 What's that girl's name you sat next to
     in French?
 Have you shown everyone your Winterim pictures?
 Are you still dating that guy you took to the Junior Prom?
 Gonna take your Sr. Beanie to college?
 Did you cry at graduation? All Club Picnic, maybe? (If it wasn't you this year, it will be soon enough)
 Who are you selling your books to this year?
 Did you go to the junior and senior plays?
 How many basketball games did we win?
 Did you vote for Triad Homecoming Queen?
 Eat too much at A.F.S. Celebrations?
 Remember the Dogwoods turning red in October?
 The snow lying in pillows on Souby Hall?
 The buttercups, red bud and forsythia
     in March?
 The hot, hot days of Step-Singing practice?
 How many months have you been waiting for this book?
 Remember?
 Take a look back; you might have forgotten
     something.
 It's all here—
     one year, four seasons at Harpeth Hall.
 Look back ...
